Schenker, Inc. and BAX Global Complete Integration

DB Schenker is the new brand name for the integrated company

(Freeport, NY, March 1, 2009)--After two years of careful planning, Schenker, Inc. and BAX Global operations within the USA are fully integrated and doing business under the brand name, DB Schenker, according to Heiner Murmann, CEO of Schenker, Inc.

The integration is a result of the purchase of BAX Global by Deutsche Bahn AG in January of 2006.

“From the start, our goal was to have as little operational impact on our customers as possible. We wanted to make our integration the most successful in our industry and we are confident that we succeeded based on the feedback we are getting from our customers,” Murmann said.

All USA operations have successfully transitioned to DB Schenker with the exception of BAX's international HUB in Toledo, Ohio. BAX Global Inc. transportation and express consignment operating groups along with the Container Freight Station (CFS) located in Toledo will continue as a separate entity. BAX Global Inc. will focus on serving the wholesale community of air cargo users as a neutral provider handling primarily domestic cargo under its BAX Forwarder Network (BFN) program.

The USA organization is part of DB Schenker, which combines all transport and logistic activities of Deutsche Bahn employing over 90,000 staff spread across about 2,000 locations in about 130 countries. Annual turnover in 2007 was 18 billion Euros.

DB Schenker in the USA has 140 branch locations offering integrated logistics services, such as International air and ocean services, contract logistics, global supply chain management, and customs brokerage. Additionally, customers can select guaranteed overnight, second day, and day-definite ground; standard overnight, second day and economy ground delivery throughout North America.
